SAT 01:20 All Creatures Great and Small (p031d0dh) [Repeat of broadcast at 20:05 today]	SAT 02:10 All Creatures Great and Small (p031d0dp) [Repeat of broadcast at 20:55 today] SUNDAY 19 OCTOBER 2025 SUN 19:00 Wildlife on One (b00796tm) African Penguin: Cool Bird in a Hot Spot David Attenborough narrates a programme which follows several thousand pioneering young penguins as they invade Boulders Beach, a busy resort in Cape Town, in an attempt to establish a new colony amid the striped umbrellas and sun loungers. SUN 19:15 Jane Goodall: Beauty and the Beasts (b00v9j22) In 1960, a young secretary from Bournemouth, with no scientific qualifications, entered a remote forest in Africa and achieved something nobody else had ever done before. Jane Goodall became accepted by a group of wild chimpanzees, making discoveries that transformed our understanding of them, and challenged the way we define ourselves as human beings by showing just how close we are as a species to our nearest living relatives. Since then, both she and the chimps of Gombe in Tanzania have become world famous - Jane as the beauty of many wildlife films, they as the beasts with something profound to tell us. As one of the programme's contributors, David Attenborough, suggests, Jane Goodall's story could be a fable if it wasn't true. In this revealing programme filmed with Jane Goodall in Africa, we discover the person behind the myth, what motivates her and the personal cost her life's work has exacted from her - and why she still thinks we have a lot to learn from the chimps she has devoted her life to understanding. SUN 20:15 Wogan (m001xynt) Jane Goodall, Ade Edmondson, Eurythmics Terry Wogan talks to primatologist Jane Goodall and actor Adrian Edmondson, with music by Eurythmics. There is also a satellite interview with Parker from Thunderbirds. SUN 20:45 A Choral Pilgrimage with The Sixteen (m002l6s5) Luminous choral music on the theme of peace, performed by one of the world's finest choirs and recorded at Peterborough Cathedral. A hymn to tranquillity, the concert features music from across nine centuries, from the medieval abbess Hildegard of Bingen to Anna Clyne with a new work for choir and violin. There are also sumptuous works by John Taverner, Will Todd and Arvo Pärt in his 90th birthday year. The Sixteen is led by conductor Harry Christophers. Presented by Hannah French. SUN 22:00 Remembers... (m002l6s7) Lord Mervyn King Remembers... The Age of Uncertainty Former governor of the Bank of England Mervyn King looks back on the BBC's 1977 series on the history of economic thinking, The Age of Uncertainty. Written and presented by the highly influential economist and intellectual JK Galbraith, the series tackled the challenge of bringing economics to a mainstream audience head-on, seemingly sparing no expense in its use of actors, elaborate sets and multiple international locations - and even a sumptuous banquet for dogs - to help explain some highly complex thinking. Lord King, who encountered Galbraith whilst studying at Cambridge, gives an assessment of the series five decades on from its original transmission, sharing his opinion of Galbraith and his methods today and explaining why the series divided critics at the time: attacked by the political right, including Margaret Thatcher and the Daily Telegraph, but held up as an example of the BBC at its best by others. SUN 22:20 The Age of Uncertainty (m002l6s9) Series 1 1. The Prophets and Promise of Classical Capitalism John Kenneth Galbraith tells the story of the men who laid the foundations of economics, including Adam Smith, David Ricardo and Thomas Malthus. What they made of the world of their time profoundly affects our world.	SUN 23:15 The Age of Uncertainty (m002l6sf) Series 1 2. The Manners and Morals of High Capitalism Professor Galbraith looks at the ideas that sustained the rich in the 19th century and how they still affect our attitudes today. Herbert Spencer justified the moneymaking in straight Darwinian terms as 'survival of the fittest'. Thorstein Veblen thought a parallel with Papuans a more appropriate one. SUN 00:10 imagine... (b09vdpzw) Winter 2017/18 Philip Pullman: Angels and Daemons Romantic, fearless, fantastical; this edition delves into the thrilling world of Philip Pullman and explores the author's own dark materials. Pullman has been named both one of Britain's greatest writers and the most dangerous writer in Britain. He is best-known for the much-loved His Dark Materials trilogy, which follows a young heroine, Lyra, through a series of heart-stopping adventures into other worlds. Appealing to both adults and children alike, his books have sold over 20 million copies and have been translated into 40 languages. La Belle Sauvage, his recent novel, became an instant bestseller. 'The things we need most in the world are stories,' he says. Alan Yentob spends time with Pullman in Oxford, discovering how the inspirational middle-school teacher became an acclaimed author of fantasy fiction and an outspoken critic of organised religion. SUN 01:15 A Choral Pilgrimage with The Sixteen (m002l6s5) [Repeat of broadcast at 20:45 today] SUN 02:35 Jane Goodall: Beauty and the Beasts (b00v9j22) [Repeat of broadcast at 19:15 today] MONDAY 20 OCTOBER 2025 MON 19:00 Fred Dibnah's Building of Britain (b0074n9y) Victorian Splendour In the final programme of the series uncovering the construction and engineering skills that went into the building of Britain, Fred Dibnah indulges his personal passion for the achievements of the builders of the 19th century. At Eastnor Castle in Herefordshire, a young architect called Robert Smirke was commissioned to build a grand house that was as big and impressive as a great medieval castle. As Fred demonstrates, steam-powered machinery made this possible in a fraction of the time - if not the cost - involved originally. Eastnor also provides an introduction to the work of architect and designer Augustus Welby Pugin, who was inspired by medieval Gothic architecture. At St Giles in Cheadle, Staffordshire, Fred examines one of Pugin's best Gothic works, achieved thanks to one of the finest teams of craftsmen that have ever been seen in the building of Britain. The building with which Pugin is most commonly associated is the Palace of Westminster, where he worked alongside fellow architect Sir Charles Barry. Fred reveals how the two men came up with a building that matched the medieval Westminster Abbey next door, as well as demonstrating how the builders overcame the challenges posed by the riverbank location. Fred's final stop on this epic journey sees him scaling the heights again, this time inside the Westminster clock tower - the one we call Big Ben - where he reveals what makes the country's best-known clock tick to time and how the huge bell was originally constructed. MON 19:30 The Channel Tunnel - Life on the Inside (m0008ls4) Series 1 What Goes Around... After 25 years in business, Eurotunnel is at a junction, with many of its staff facing retirement and new recruits being drafted in. And the next batch of wannabe shuttle drivers has just arrived for the first round of testing. The tests, however, are ruthless, with a 90% fail rate, so who will make it through? Meanwhile the passenger comings and goings never stop and the summer is the busiest time of all, with super cars arriving in convoy for the Le Mans 24 hour race. But as the French step up their passport controls, and the screens jam at the Terminal

Control Centre, will the supercars make it to France on time? We also find out how the teams cope with 'no tarmac day', the busiest day of the year, when the schools break up and 10,200 cars head for the tunnel. Then we take a rollercoaster ride through the tunnel with train drivers Tash and Steve, who show us why the undersea geology makes the tunnel bend. Inside the world's biggest train shed in Calais, we see how maintenance teams keep the locomotives running. Back in Folkestone, we meet the UK team hard at work in the slightly smaller UK shed. Why do they love sheds? How come they don't want to retire? And why is it that some of the staff are more concerned with Pexit than Brexit? MON 20:00 Stolen: Catching the Art Thieves (m001c5tv) Series 1 Frankfurt The astonishing story of the theft of two Turners on loan from the Tate in 1994 sparking a high-stakes international hunt across Europe from London to Belgrade, deep into the world of Serbian war lords. MON 21:00 Call My Bluff (m0022nph) 10/6/1976 Robert Robinson presides as Frank Muir, Jilly Cooper and Prof Quentin Bell compete with Patrick Campbell, Lesley-Anne Down and Anthony Valentine in a duel of words and wit. MON 21:30 Face the Music (m00216s3) Question master Joseph Cooper invites viewers to match their musical wits against Patricia Owen, John Julius Norwich and David Attenborough. With guest musician Imogen Cooper. MON 22:00 Arena (m0019dwz) Bette Davis: The Benevolent Volcano Ian Holm narrates this documentary, originally broadcast in 1983, about Hollywood star Bette Davis. Spanning her life and career from the 1920s to the 1980s, on stage and on screen, the programme includes an interview with the actress herself. MON 22:45 Arena (m002k96l) Art and Design: The Journey Singer and writer George Melly takes a walk from his home in north London to the Hayward Gallery, reminiscing along the way about the influence of surrealism on his early life. MON 23:10 The Great Philosophers (m00214zf) Series 1 Descartes Bryan Magee and Bernard Williams discuss the work of French philosopher René Descartes. MON 23:55 The Great Philosophers (m00214zh) Series 1 Spinoza and Leibniz Bryan Magee discusses the work of Dutch philosopher Baruch Spinoza and Gottfried Wilhelm Leibniz, the German philosopher, with his guest, Anthony Quinton. MON 00:45 Fred Dibnah's Building of Britain (b0074n9y) [Repeat of broadcast at 19:00 today] MON 01:15 The Channel Tunnel - Life on the Inside (m0008ls4) [Repeat of broadcast at 19:30 today] MON 01:45 Face the Music (m00216s3) [Repeat of broadcast at 21:30 today] MON 02:15 Stolen: Catching the Art Thieves (m001c5tv) [Repeat of broadcast at 20:00 today] TUESDAY 21 OCTOBER 2025 TUE 19:00 A Garden in Snowdonia (b00kn777) Bodnant Rising	The story of a year in the life of Bodnant Garden in north Wales. With visitor numbers in decline, those who live and work at the National Trust property are on a mission to transform this spectacular garden. Head gardener Troy Scott Smith and his manager Michael McLaren are spending two million pounds on a revamp, with the aim of creating one of the top ten gardens in the world. TUE 19:30 Remembers... (m0022nnp) Dame Patricia Routledge Remembers... Keeping Up Appearances Dame Patricia Routledge recalls how the character of Hyacinth Bucket first entered her life and looks back on the part she played in bringing to life one of TV's most formidable comedy characters. She describes the pleasures of working with her fellow cast members, shares her thoughts on why Hyacinth's husband Richard endured all the years with his social-climbing wife, and explains why – despite her fondness for every element of the programme – it was she who eventually decided to call time on the show, when all others would have loved for it to continue. TUE 19:45 Keeping Up Appearances (b007cky1) Series 5 Episode 3 Hyacinth is in a sunny disposition, which mystifies Richard. The real horror of his situation dawns on him when he realises that he has forgotten their anniversary and that Hyacinth is beaming in anticipation of a gift which he has not bought her. TUE 20:15 Remembers... (m0022nnr) Dame Patricia Routledge Remembers... Miss Pym's Day Out Miss Pym's Day Out saw Dame Patricia Routledge portray legendary author Barbara Pym in an RTS Award-winning episode of Bookmark, set on the day of the 1977 Booker Prize Awards, of which Pym's Quartet in Autumn was nominated. The novel marked a huge revival and interest in Pym's work after 16 years, and in this introduction, Patricia gives us a sense of what it was like to tell this incredible story, from the encounters with Pym's family that were involved in the project, to reading the diary entries and letters included in the script. TUE 20:20 Miss Pym's Day Out: Bookmark (m0022nnt) Dramatised documentary about the writer Barbara Pym, depicting one day in her life - 23 November 1977 - when she travelled to London to attend the Booker Prize ceremony. Patricia Routledge plays Barbara Pym. TUE 21:05 Remembers... (m0022nnz) Dame Patricia Routledge Remembers... Talking Heads Talking Heads was Alan Bennett's acclaimed series of one-off tele-plays, written specifically for a selection of some of his favourite actors, including the great Dame Patricia Routledge. Here, Patricia recalls what it was like to receive the scripts that were so perfectly suited to her comic abilities: A Woman of No Importance, A Lady of Letters and Miss Fozzard Finds Her Feet. She describes the challenges of bringing three unique characters to life for television, reveals which of her three episodes was her least favourite, and shares the feelings of delight that Bennett's writing gave her, and her appreciation of his mastery of language – a quality that has always been of utmost importance throughout her career. TUE 21:15 Talking Heads (b00pchyv) Series 1 A Lady of Letters Irene Ruddock's mother died some years ago and she lives alone. A one-woman Neighbourhood Watch scheme, her habit of writing letters to the appropriate authorities gets ridiculously out of hand. TUE 21:50 Wild (b007cs2w) 2006-07 Shorts Shearwater Island How thousands of strange nocturnal birds make their home on the tiny island of Bardsey in north Wales, and an exploration of the rich history of the island itself.	TUE 22:00 Storyville (m00216sx) Sanatorium In a vast, crumbling Soviet-era sanatorium on the shores of Odesa, thousands arrive each summer in search of healing. Some come for the legendary black mud, rumoured to cure everything, from infertility to joint pain. Others are looking for something less tangible: connection, laughter, even love. Once a jewel of Soviet medicine, the brutalist complex now stands as a surreal time capsule, its pink and lime green corridors echoing not only with the sounds of therapies and romance but with the distant rumble of war. Filmed during a single extraordinary summer, this documentary introduces an unforgettable cast of patients and staff navigating daily life under the shadow of conflict. With humour, warmth and a deep affection for its subjects, a Ukraine you rarely see is revealed: defiant, tender, absurd and alive. A bittersweet, tragicomic portrait of humanity and hope in the unlikely of places. TUE 23:25 Blood and Gold: The Making of Spain with Simon Sebag Montefiore (b06ssjfk) Nation Simon explores Spain's golden age under Philip II through to the Spanish Civil War and dictatorship under Franco, from which Spain has emerged as a modern democratic monarchy. TUE 00:25 A Garden in Snowdonia (b00kn777) [Repeat of broadcast at 19:00 today] TUE 00:55 Keeping Up Appearances (b007cky1) [Repeat of broadcast at 19:45 today] TUE 01:25 Miss Pym's Day Out: Bookmark (m0022nnt) [Repeat of broadcast at 20:20 today] TUE 02:15 imagine... (b09ydpzw) [Repeat of broadcast at 00:10 on Sunday] WEDNESDAY 22 OCTOBER 2025 WED 19:00 A Garden in Snowdonia (b00kt718) Bodnant Blooming A year in the life of the spectacular Bodnant Garden in north Wales. Head gardener Troy Scott Smith and his team give Bodnant a facelift. Supervisor Adam Salvin brings a beautiful Italianate terrace back to its former glory, Dave Larter shares his passion for giant lilies, and the world-famous Laburnum Arch is in full bloom. WED 19:30 Canal Boat Diaries (m0015f6v) Series 3 Wigan to Burnley Narrowboater Robbie Cumming begins his 170-mile journey across the north of England and soon runs into difficulty when he encounters a problem with his craft's propeller in Wigan and runs aground in Blackburn. Nevertheless, he pushes on to navigate a true wonder of the waterways, the Burnley Embankment. WED 20:00 Archaeology: A Secret History (p0109k28) The Search for Civilisation Archaeologist Richard Miles shows how discoveries in the 18th and 19th centuries overturned ideas of when and where civilisation began as empires competed to literally 'own' the past. WED 21:00 Thatcher: A Very British Revolution (m0005wyb) Series 1 That Bloody Woman Mrs Thatcher and her government seek to transform the British economy, with far-reaching consequences. Tensions surface amongst her closest allies as she seeks to improve her public image, and events reveal that the Iron Lady has emotional vulnerabilities in relation to her family. Mrs Thatcher's reputation amongst some sections of the public is poor. Her forthright style, such as telling the press not to be “moaning minnies” about unemployment when visiting north east England, has led to her being viewed as domineering and unsympathetic. In an embarrassing TV interview she is told that this issue is referred to within her own party as the TBW factor (“that bloody woman”). When colleagues attempt to discuss this problem she becomes angry at the Conservative central office team who bring her the news.

In an attempt to present a softer image Mrs Thatcher opens the doors of Downing Street to cameras and interviewers. Quizzed by Miriam Stoppard about her family, Mrs Thatcher offers insights into her modest upbringing in Grantham and in a startling moment is moved to tears when discussing her father and his departure from his senior position on the local council. The interview also raises questions about her own role as a mother and how she has balanced this with her political career. Her vulnerabilities around family are further exposed when the press ask questions about whether business deals her son is involved in create conflicts of interest.

Meanwhile, her government embarks on a radical transformation of the British economy. Mrs Thatcher is determined that Britain will embrace the free market and entrepreneurship. A programme of privatisation is underway that takes major nationalised industries into the private sector and offers millions of people the opportunity to own shares. It is a hallmark policy that will define the Thatcher years. Additionally, Mrs Thatcher greenlights a transformation of the operations of the City of London. Trading restrictions are lifted and regulation relaxed in the “Big Bang” that will bring a flood of new money into the City and a new generation of young, ambitious financiers. Many find the explosion of wealth and extravagance distasteful and damaging.

As the 1987 election approaches there are serious tensions inside the Conservative Party. Disagreements about strategy and personal differences between some of Mrs Thatcher’s closest advisors have been building. Mrs Thatcher is becoming suspicious of her party colleagues and closer to her inner circle of civil servants and specially appointed advisors. These tensions break out during the 1987 election campaign when polls seem to suggest that Labour are closing on the Conservatives and threatening to deny Mrs Thatcher a third victory. After explosive rows Mrs Thatcher asserts her authority and leads the campaign. When the results come in she has won another landslide victory but relationships with some of her closest allies are damaged forever.

This episode features interviews with Conservative party officials Norman Tebbit and Michael Dobbs, press secretary Bernard Ingham, political secretary Stephen Sherbourne, personal assistant Cynthia Crawford, cabinet member Lord Young, MPs Matthew Parris and Jonathan Aitken and senior civil servants Robin Butler, Charles Powell and Tim Lankester, as well as opposition leader Neil Kinnock and journalist Miriam Stoppard.

WED 22:00 Margaret (b00hy18h)

Drama charting Margaret Thatcher’s astonishing fall from power, one of the most extraordinary stories of political assassination the world has seen. It took only 11 days for Thatcher to go from being the most powerful woman in the world to the tearful figure in the back of the car - a major tragedy in the true Shakespearean sense. We watch a woman lose the one thing she really cares about - power - changing from leader to victim before our eyes.

12 November 1990: As Thatcher prepares for her speech at the Lord Mayor’s banquet at the Guildhall, Geoffrey Howe, her quietly spoken former foreign secretary and chancellor, pens the resignation speech that will stun the country and seal her fate. The next day, Howe makes his lethal speech in the Houses of Parliament, and the final ten days of Margaret Thatcher’s reign begin.

WED 23:55 How to Get Ahead (b03z08mx)

At Versailles

Stephen Smith explores the flamboyant Baroque court of the Sun King, Louis XIV. Louis created the Palace of Versailles so he could surround himself with aristocrats, artists, interior designers, gardeners, wigmakers, chefs and musicians. Hordes of ambitious courtiers scrambled to get close to the king, but unseemly goings-on in the royal bedchamber reflected the quickest path to power.
