SAT 13:00 Music Matters (m002h7sk) Piano Stories Sir Andrés Schiff Piano technician to the greats, Ulrich Gerhartz is in conversation about pianos with Sir Andrés Schiff. Ulrich Gerhartz is talking pianos with some of the greatest pianists of our age. Ulrich is Director of Concert and Artist Services at Steinway and Sons in London. For the last 30 years he's been piano technician to the stars of the piano world. When they sit down at a keyboard, it's his job to ensure that these top musicians have the best instrument possible set up for their particular taste and touch. Great pianists take Ulrich on tour; into recording studios; and to the world's finest concert halls. Tuning is a small part of what he does as he spends hours preparing each piano to suit each performer. Here Ulrich is in conversation with his friend, the Hungarian-born British pianist Sir Andrés Schiff. They discuss memories of touring in South America; choosing a piano for playing Bach in the Albert Hall; and what it is that makes a piano happy. Music played D. She's reached millions of television viewers too, with series including Vera and Shetland, adapted from her books. She has written on average a book a year for almost four decades, but success was anything but instant. She was 32 when her first title was published, and she only became a full-time writer in her early fifties. In 2017 she was awarded the Diamond Dagger from the Crime Writers' Association, the highest honour in British crime writing, and in 2022 received an OBE for services to reading and libraries. Her choices include music by Britten and Elgar, a film score by Patrick Doyle and fiddle music from the Shetland Islands. Bartók Concerto for Orchestra

Janine Jansen violin

Royal Concertgebouw Orchestra
Klaus Mäkelä conductor

For their second concert, Klaus Mäkelä and Amsterdam's Royal Concertgebouw Orchestra are joined by celebrated violinist Janine Jansen – back at the Proms for the first time in over a decade as soloist in Prokofiev's effervescent Violin Concerto No. 1. A lyrical refuge from the storm of the Russian Revolution, the concerto stands in contrast to Bartók's Concerto for Orchestra – another heir of conflict, but one that grapples and wrestles with darkness with thrilling virtuosity.

Mozart's 'Paris' Symphony is no less of an orchestral showcase: a musical calling card from an ambitious 22-year-old determined to dazzle.

Under the Italian Sun (Bristol)

Carlo Rizzi and the Orchestra of Welsh National Opera perform sumptuous works by Italian composers Respighi, Verdi, Rossini and Puccini.

Presented by Sarah Walker, live from Bristol Beacon.

Gioachino Rossini: William Tell Overture
Giacomo Puccini: Capriccio sinfonico
Luciano Berio: Folk Songs

c. 7.55pm interval Naomi Paxton visits the Holburne Museum in Bath to find out about Italian treasures collected by the founder on The Grand Tour from the director Chris Stephens and Professor Roey Sweet

c. 8.20pm Giuseppe Verdi: I vespri siciliani Overture
Ottorino Respighi: Il tramonto
Edward Elgar: In the South (Alassio)

Orchestra of the Welsh National Opera
Carlo Rizzi (conductor)

Elgar's In the South captures the exhilarating feeling of an afternoon by the Ligurian coast. Sunset comes and goes for two young lovers in Respighi's Il tramonto, whose quiet tragedy echoes the tensions in the overture from Verdi's Sicilian Vespers. There's exhilarating energy from Rossini's William Tell overture, and a chance to glance ahead to the joys of Tosca and La bohème in Puccini's tune-filled Capriccio sinfonico.

Bonnie Prince Billy's Listening Chair

Elizabeth Alker welcomes Will Oldham a.k.a Bonnie Prince Billy to the Unclassified Listening Chair to share a track that transports him elsewhere. Will has been a giant of the alt-folk scene for the past thirty years, collaborating with scores of musicians of all different stripes along the way. His most recent album The Purple Bird was made in Nashville with legendary producer David 'Ferg' Ferguson, it mischievously and lovingly plays with traditional country tropes - but Will's Listening Chair choice has much more of a stripped-back and semi-mystical Californian feel.

Elsewhere in the programme, Elizabeth introduces the new single from Max Richter, music from Glasgow greats Mogwai, and the latest song from Kathryn Joseph.

MON 09:30 Radio 3's Proms Marathon Monday (m002hf5n)
Great British Classics

Getting Radio 3's Proms Marathon Monday out of the blocks, Ian Skelly introduces the first in a series of Proms highlights from the 2025 season so far:

Great British Classics (Tuesday 5 August)
Presented by Katie Derham from the Royal Albert Hall in London

Walton, arr Tausky: Coronation March 'Crown Imperial'
Vaughan Williams: The Lark Ascending
S Coleridge-Taylor: Isle of Beauty; The Evening Star
Britten: Four Sea Interludes from 'Peter Grimes', Op 33a

Mathias: Dance Overture
John Rutter: Bird Songs (BBC commission, world premiere)
A Coleridge-Taylor: The Rustling of Grass (arr Zoë Birtwhistle); The Shepherd
G Williams: Elegy for Strings
Elgar: Variations on an Original Theme, 'Enigma'

Liya Petrova (violin)
BBC Singers
BBC National Orchestra of Wales
Nil Venditti (conductor)

MON 11:45 Radio 3's Proms Marathon Monday (m002hf5q)
Rachmaninov's 'Paganini' Variations

As part of Radio 3's Proms Marathon Monday, Ian Skelly introduces the second of our Proms highlights from the 2025 season so far.

Rachmaninov's 'Paganini' Variations (Friday 8 August)
Presented by Ian Skelly from the Royal Albert Hall in London

Paul Dukas: La Péri – Poème dansé
Sergey Rachmaninov: Rhapsody on a Theme of Paganini

Béla Bartók: The Miraculous Mandarin

Beatrice Rana (piano)
BBC Singers
BBC Symphony Orchestra
Josep Pons (conductor)

Desire, brutality and the supernatural are shaken together in the orchestral kaleidoscope of Bartók's ballet The Miraculous Mandarin. Josep Pons conducts the BBC Symphony Orchestra in the last of Bartók's three great music-theatre scores, an electrifying fusion of folk music and modernism. Angular brilliance gives way to exotic, Impressionistic colours in Dukas's exotic 'danced poem' La Péri. 'Remarkable' Italian pianist Beatrice Rana is the soloist in Rachmaninov's thrilling Rhapsody on a Theme of Paganini.

MON 13:00 Radio 3's Proms Marathon Monday (m002hf5s)
Rachmaninov and Copland

As part of Radio 3's Proms Marathon Monday, Linton Stephens introduces the next in our series of Proms highlights from the 2025 season so far.

Rachmaninov and Copland (Thursday 31 July)
Presented by Katie Derham from the Royal Albert Hall in London.

Elsa Barraine: Symphony No. 2
Aaron Copland: Clarinet Concerto
Artie Shaw: Clarinet Concerto

Sergey Rachmaninov: Symphonic Dances

Martin Fröst, clarinet
BBC Philharmonic Orchestra
Joshua Weilerstein, conductor

The thrum of urban America – jazz clubs and bustling sidewalks, pulsing Latin rhythms and night-time lights – runs through this Prom given by Joshua Weilerstein and the BBC Philharmonic Orchestra. Rachmaninov's enigmatic final masterpiece, the Symphonic Dances, blends Russian soul with bold colours from the composer's adopted homeland. Copland's Clarinet Concerto draws on the virtuoso skills of jazz legend Benny Goodman, while bandleader Artie Shaw wrote his Clarinet Concerto for his own considerable skills as a player. Elsa Barraine's tautly lyrical Symphony No. 2 opens the programme.

MON 14:35 Radio 3's Proms Marathon Monday (m002hf5v)
Vivaldi and Bach

As part of Radio 3's Proms Marathon Monday, Linton Stephens introduces the next in our series of Proms highlights from the 2025 season so far.

Vivaldi and Bach (Sunday 20 July)

Still in his twenties, French violinist Théotime Langlois de Swarte combines supple athleticism with precocious musical intelligence. He makes a much-anticipated Proms debut as soloist with his ensemble Le Consort in a programme built around violin concertos by Vivaldi and the repertoire that first lit the touchpaper for the talented young musician as a teenager. The programme also includes works by Avison, Legrenzi, Marcello and Matteis Jr.

MON 15:30 CBeebies Prom 2025 (p0m0dm3k)
A Magical Bedtime Story

Live at the BBC Proms: Sinfonia Smith Square and CBeebies friends share an enchanting musical tale. An entertaining introduction to the orchestra for little ones. Georgia Mann presents, live from the Royal Albert Hall, London Sinfonia Smith Square Ellie Slorach (conductor) Join CBeebies friends and a special guest in the Bedtime Stories chair as they share a magical musical tale. Don't miss this entertaining exploration of the orchestra for little ones – full of fun and laughs for all the family!

MON 17:00 Radio 3's Proms Marathon Monday (m002hf5x)
The Planets and Star Wars

Petroc Trelawny introduces the next of our Proms highlights from the 2025 season so far, with the National Youth Orchestra conducted by Dalia Stasevska.

The Planets and Star Wars (Saturday 9 August)

The many worlds of Holst's The Planets, including the mysterious beauty of 'Neptune' and rousing 'Jupiter' theme, meet the music from John Williams's mighty Star Wars soundtracks, plus Pulitzer Prize-winner Caroline Shaw's piece inspired by sci-fi and some sky-gazing at the Griffin Observatory in Los Angeles.

Presented by Georgia Mann from the Royal Albert Hall, London.

John Williams: Star Wars – suite
Caroline Shaw: The Observatory
Holst: The Planets

National Youth Orchestra
Dalia Stasevska (conductor)

MON 18:45 Radio 3's Proms Marathon Monday (m002hf5z)
Viennese Waltzes

Petroc Trelawny introduces another of our 2025 Proms highlights. Marking 200 years since the birth of 'Waltz King' Johann Strauss II, the BBC Concert Orchestra, Chief Conductor Anna-Maria Helsing and soprano Erin Morley celebrate the opulence and enchantment of Vienna's Golden Age.

Viennese Waltzes (Saturday 2nd August)
Presented by Petroc Trelawny from the Royal Albert Hall in London.

Erin Morley, soprano
BBC Concert Orchestra
Anna-Maria Helsing, conductor

Gustav Mahler: Symphony No. 3 in D minor Beth Taylor (mezzo-soprano) BBC National Orchestra of Wales BBC National Chorus of Wales (upper voices) CBSO Children's Chorus Members of Orchestre National de Bretagne Ryan Bancroft (conductor) 'A symphony should be like the world,' Mahler said, 'it should embrace everything.' Nowhere does this vision come more powerfully to life than in his mighty Symphony No. 3, an intricate, joyful tapestry of man, nature, heaven. The work opens in heavy summer heat and closes in rapt tranquillity in a sublime finale, animated in between by marches, dances and birdsong. Ryan Bancroft brings together the BBC National Orchestra of Wales and the Orchestre National de Bretagne, joined by the CBSO Children's Chorus and BBC National Chorus of Wales and mezzo-soprano Beth Taylor. MON 22:00 Night Tracks (m00230nd) Adventures in sound Sara Mohr-Pietsch presents an adventurous, immersive soundtrack for late-night listening, from classical to contemporary and everything in between. TUE 16:00 Composer of the Week (m001m584)

Domenico Scarlatti (1685-1757)

Apprenticeship

Kate Molleson follows our young composer as he seeks his fortune in different cities across Italy under the ever-watchful scrutiny of his ambitious father.

Domenico Scarlatti was well placed to build himself a glittering career in the music business. He was prestigiously talented and born into a family with powerful connections in the music business. His home city of Naples was a major centre for the fashionable new art form of opera. But there were challenges, too. Competition was fierce and musicians often found their fates helplessly tied to the fickle fortunes of their aristocratic patrons. On top of all that, Domenico faced another, distinctly personal, test to his career aspirations; he was working in the shadow of a much more celebrated Scarlatti – his own father! It would take several decades, and more than a few changes of direction, before Domenico finally found his right path, becoming one of the baroque period's most significant composers. Today, he's rightly revered for the extraordinary catalogue of over 550 keyboard sonatas he left to posterity. This week, Kate Molleson traces Scarlatti's story and looks at what else there is to discover in his legacy alongside his celebrated keyboard works.

In today's programme, we meet Domenico as he takes his first job, working for his father among the musicians of the court chapel in Naples. It's not long before father and son are both on the hunt for better prospects and they travel to Florence, Rome and Venice to find patrons worthy of their talents.

Sibelius's Second

Live at the BBC Proms: Leipzig Gewandhaus Orchestra and Andris Nelsons, with Isabelle Faust in Dvorak's Violin Concerto.

Presented by Ian Skelly, live from the Royal Albert Hall, London

Pärt: Cantus in memoriam Benjamin Britten
Dvořák: Violin Concerto in A minor

c.7.50pm

During the interval Ian Skelly is joined by Katy Hamilton to talk about playing Dvorak and the rich heritage of the Leipzig Gewandhaus Orchestra.

c.8.10pm

Sibelius: Symphony No. 2 in D

The prestigious Leipzig Gewandhaus Orchestra – the world's longest-established symphony orchestra, famous for the glossy richness of its 'Leipzig sound' – returns to the Proms under Music Director Andris Nelsons.

Joining them, back at the Proms for the first time since 2010, is German violinist Isabelle Faust, soloist in Dvořák's colourful, folk-inspired Violin Concerto.

The elemental power of Sibelius's Symphony No. 2, with its heroic final movement, has become indelibly associated with Finland's fight for freedom, no less personal a statement than the fragile, hypnotic beauty of Arvo Pärt's tribute to Benjamin Britten.

TUE 22:00 Night Tracks (m00230k3)

Music for night owls

WED 16:00 Composer of the Week (m001m56d) Domenico Scarlatti (1685-1757) Adventures in Opera Scarlatti looks to strike out on his own in Rome, but will his famous father prove a help or a hindrance? Presented by Kate Molleson. Domenico Scarlatti was well placed to build himself a glittering career in the music business. He was prestigiously talented and born into a family with powerful connections in the music business. His home city of Naples was a major centre for the fashionable new art form of opera. But there were challenges, too. Competition was fierce and musicians often found their fates helplessly tied to the fickle fortunes of their aristocratic patrons. On top of all that, Domenico faced another, distinctly personal, test to his career aspirations; he was working in the shadow of a much more celebrated Scarlatti – his own father! It would take several decades, and more than a few changes of direction, before Domenico finally found his right path, becoming one of the baroque period's most significant composers. Today, he's rightly revered for the extraordinary catalogue of over 550 keyboard sonatas he left to posterity. This week, Kate Molleson traces Scarlatti's story and looks at what else there is to discover in his legacy alongside his celebrated keyboard works. In today's programme, Domenico Scarlatti tries his hand at opera, the art form that was fast making his father a household name among Italy's musical elite. He scores a few success but is the theatre really where his future lies? Scarlatti meets the woman who will change the course of his life. With Kate Molleson.

Domenico Scarlatti was well placed to build himself a glittering career in the music business. He was prestigiously talented and born into a family with powerful connections in the music business. His home city of Naples was a major centre for the fashionable new art form of opera. But there were challenges, too. Competition was fierce and musicians often found their fates helplessly tied to the fickle fortunes of their aristocratic patrons. On top of all that, Domenico faced another, distinctly personal, test to his career aspirations; he was working in the shadow of a much more celebrated Scarlatti – his own father! It would take several decades, and more than a few changes of direction, before Domenico finally found his right path, becoming one of the baroque period's most significant composers. Today, he's rightly revered for the extraordinary catalogue of over 550 keyboard sonatas he left to posterity. This week, Kate Molleson traces Scarlatti's story and looks at what else there is to discover in his legacy alongside his celebrated keyboard works.

In today's programme, Scarlatti is introduced to a very special new keyboard student. The daughter of the King of Portugal was not yet 12 years old, but this was the start of a relationship that would dominate the composer's fortunes for the next three and a half decades.

Saint-Saëns's 'Organ' Symphony

Live at the BBC Proms: the BBC Symphony Orchestra conducted by Marie Jacquot in Saint-Saëns's Organ Symphony with soloist Rachel Mahon. Plus Bizet, Holmès, and Sarasate.

Presented by Ian Skelly at the Royal Albert Hall, London.

Georges Bizet: L' Arlésienne – Suite No. 1
Pablo de Sarasate: Carmen Fantasy

c.20.10
Interval: Ian Skelly is joined by theatre director, composer, lyricist and French music enthusiast, Jeremy Sams to find out more about Augusta Holmès, a composer and also a mover and shaker in the cultural world of late nineteenth century Paris.

c.20.30
Augusta Holmès: Andromède
Camille Saint-Saëns: Symphony No. 3 in C minor, 'Organ'

Inmo Yang (violin)
Rachel Mahon (organ)
BBC Symphony Orchestra
Marie Jacquot (conductor)

An all-French programme whose first half – 150 years after the composer's death – celebrates the bright, exotic colours conjured by Bizet. As well as a suite from his incidental music for 'The Girl from Arles', we hear the fantasy for violin and orchestra featuring music – including the famous 'Habanera' – from his best-loved opera, reimagined with explosive virtuosity by Sarasate. South Korean violinist Inmo Yang makes his Proms debut in the seductive, mercurial mantle of Bizet's Gypsy-heroine. Saint-Saëns's spectacular Symphony No. 3 puts the 9,999 pipes of the Royal Albert Hall organ (nicknamed the 'Voice of Jupiter') in the spotlight at the climax of this monumental work, and there's more musical drama from gods and sea monsters in Augusta Holmès's tone-poem Andromède.

Mahler's Symphony No. 5 in C sharp minor from the BBC Proms

Linton Stephens showcases the best performances by BBC orchestras, choirs, ensembles and other great performing groups from Europe and around the globe.

Throughout the week, we will feature highlights from the BBC Proms 2025. In today's programme, conductor Klaus Mäkelä joins forces with the Royal Concertgebouw Orchestra. Mahler's Fifth Symphony is a tumultuous journey from the darkness of a funeral march to brilliant light via the famous Adagietto – the tenderest musical love letter in the repertoire. It sits alongside Berio's imaginative 'rendering' of Schubert's unfinished tenth symphony, a musical palimpsest and sonic fantasy.

Elsewhere, performances from the Cheltenham Music Festival will be featured including former R3 New Generation Artists, pianist Giorgi Gigashvili playing Sergei Prokofiev, accordionist Ryan Corbett playing his arrangement of music by Bach', and tenor Santiago Sanchez singing music by Richard Strauss.

Life at the Spanish court is transformed by the arrival of a singing celebrity. Presented by Kate Molleson.

Domenico Scarlatti was well placed to build himself a glittering career in the music business. He was prestigiously talented and born into a family with powerful connections in the music business. His home city of Naples was a major centre for the fashionable new art form of opera. But there were challenges, too. Competition was fierce and musicians often found their fates helplessly tied to the fickle fortunes of their aristocratic patrons. This week, Kate Molleson traces Scarlatti's story and looks at what else there is to discover in his legacy alongside his celebrated keyboard works.

In today's programme, the most famous opera singer of the age pays a visit to the Spanish court where Scarlatti works. When the King persuades him to stay, Scarlatti wonders if Farinelli will prove an ally or a rival.

Khatia Buniatishvili Plays Tchaikovsky

Live at the BBC Proms: The Melbourne Symphony Orchestra with conductor Jaime Martín and pianist Khatia Buniatishvili perform music by Margaret Sutherland, Tchaikovsky and Dvořák.

Presented by Ian Skelly, live from the Royal Albert Hall, London

Margaret Sutherland: Haunted Hills
Pyotr Ilyich Tchaikovsky: Piano Concerto No. 1 in B flat minor

c.8.25pm
Interval
Ian Skelly finds out about the Melbourne Symphony Orchestra and the Australian music scene, with the orchestra's new CEO Richard Wigley and musicians from the orchestra.

c.8.45pm
Antonin Dvořák: Symphony No. 6 in D major

The Melbourne Symphony Orchestra makes its first visit to the Proms under Chief Conductor Jaime Martín, bringing two Romantic orchestral classics as well as a musical postcard from Down Under. Dvořák swells simple, folk melodies into sweeping orchestral statements in his Symphony No. 6, inspired by his Bohemian homeland and landscape, while Australia's 'haunted hills' are the starting point for Margaret Sutherland's evocative symphonic portrait of her nation's first Aboriginal inhabitants. Former BBC Radio 3 New Generation Artist Khatia Buniatishvili is the soloist in Tchaikovsky's beloved Piano Concerto No. 1, with its passionate opening and the melting lilt of its slow movement.

Angel Bat Dawid and Sarahsson at the Late Junction Prom

Verity Sharp presents highlights from the first ever Late Junction Prom - a very special night of adventurous music, performed and recorded in front of a live audience at the Bristol Beacon. Tonight we'll hear performances from two out of our three live acts - Bristol-based composer and performance artist Sarahsson and shapeshifting composer, DJ and educator Angel Bat Dawid.

Sarahsson is a kaleidoscopic composer, producer and performance artist, who is a key part of Bristol's rich avant-garde community. Her sonic identity is a force to be reckoned with, flitting across the boundaries of numerous genres (from metal, electronic, gore and folk to classical). She finds inspiration in the sounds encountered in the outside world - from billowing marsh reed beds to waste removal trucks, and through her spirited live performances and in her recorded work, Sarahsson tries to reach what she refers to as the "one tiny point in the middle of a nuclear explosion where everything happens all at once, bittersweet and fierce, a moment when opposites collide into one. The nexus point." For her Late Junction Proms performance, she will bring an exciting array of instruments to the stage, including her stone harp, tenor horn, daxophone and an exclusive for the event - a 6 foot metal sonic sculpture created in collaboration with local artists Copper Sounds.

Angel Bat Dawid is a musical powerhouse - a shapeshifting composer, educator, DJ, virtuoso clarinetist, pianist, singer and producer. An influential figure in the jazz scene of Chicago where she's based, Angel is renowned for her spellbinding live performances and prowess as a band-leader. She tours internationally with her ensemble "Tha Brothahood" and leads the all-woman ensemble Sistazz of the Nitty Gritty, among many other musical collaborations and communities. As an educator, Angel teaches her "Great Black Music" course at Cook County Juvenile Temporary Detention Center through Old Town School of Folk, and leads projects and residencies all over the world, believing in the power of music to bring people together - "When artists rise up, we're the ones who connect communities."

Bringing the night to a storming close, she will be leading one of her Hush Harbor Services - exploring themes of spiritual resilience, cultural memory, and Afro-futurism through a blend of improvisation, jazz, gospel, soul, hip-hop, and spoken word. Audience participation is encouraged, creating an interactive experience that reflects the historical significance of hush harbours, which were secret spaces where enslaved African Americans gathered for worship and cultural preservation.

Tune in to Late Junction next week to hear the rest of the highlights from the Late Junction Prom, with Jennifer Lucy Allan presenting the live performance of Polish experimenter Wojciech Rusin.

FRI 23:30 'Round Midnight (m002h8st)
Richard Spaven in concert

Jordan Rakei, sitting in all week for Soweto Kinch, presents 'Round Midnight - a weeknight celebration of jazz from across the spectrum, with a particular focus on new UK music.

Tonight Jordan shares concert highlights from legendary drummer Richard Spaven, recorded live at Yardbird! In Cardiff earlier this year. His compositions draw from jazz tradition as well as taking influence from his background as a core member of UK club, drum and bass, and hip hop scenes. His drumming style offers metronomic precision and endless creativity.

For this performance, Richard was joined by Yves Fernandez on bass and Stuart McCallum on guitar. Together they performed music from Richard's latest album Sole Subject.
