SAT 10:00 1963: That Was The Year That Was (b03jdrmd)
 Episode 2
 Michael Grade celebrates 1963 with special guests John Sergeant, Honor Blackman, Eve Pollard and Ann Leslie. The last of two programmes recalling the music, culture, social upheavals and news stories of the year and playing some great music and archive.
 Guests discuss Martin Luther King's "Dream" speech, the Avengers, roll-ons, the Flying Scotsman and not appreciating the greatness of a new band called The Beatles.
 1963 was the year of The Profumo Scandal, the murder of President Kennedy, the Beatles first number 1, The Great Train Robbery, the Beeching report on the UK's railways, Martin Luther King's 'I Have A Dream' speech, the start of the National Theatre, and the first episode of Dr Who. It was also the year that David Frost became a national icon, presenting the hugely groundbreaking BBC TV series That Was The Week That Was.
 Sir David was due to present this series, but died shortly before recording.
 From London's Riverside Studios with an audience.
 Producer: David Morley.

 A Warning to the Curious
 An amateur archeologist from London, arrives in the seaside town of Seaburgh to search for the legendary silver Crown of Anglia
 It's believed to be hidden along the sandy shores of the North Sea.
 His research uncovers the tale of the late William Ager, the guardian of the crown, which leads him to unearth the ancient relic on a remote beach. However, having made his discovery, he becomes convinced that he is being followed, and desperate to escape the ghostly presence, decides his only hope is to return the crown to the desolate beach where it was unearthed - with tragic and terrifying consequences.
 A classic spine-chiller by MR James, the 'father' of the modern ghost story, set on the windswept Suffolk coast.
 MR James (1862-1936) was a writer and scholar whose ghost stories are widely regarded as some of the best in English literature. He spent much of his childhood on the East Anglian coast, and the fictional town of 'Seaburg', in which this story is set, is based on the Suffolk coastal town of Aldeburgh.
 Read by Alex Jennings.
 Produced and abridged by Justine Willett.

 Poetry Workshop - Essay on Snow by Sean O'Brien

Poet Daljit Nagra revisits the BBC's poetry archive and chooses Poetry Workshop: Essay on Snow by Sean O'Brien.
 Ruth Padel's landmark series explores the pleasures of writing and reading poems. This episode comes from Newcastle, where Ruth leads a workshop for group of poets working on their own poems on the theme of The City.
 Poetry and poetry fans are everywhere - on the underground, buses and the internet; in schools, colleges and universities; on the stage at slams and festivals; in pubs, theatres and concert halls; in reading groups and writing workshops. All over the country groups of aspiring poets meet regularly to work together on their craft, and in this series Ruth taps into the energy of these poetry workshops to explore how poems work for both writers and readers. In Newcastle, she joins seven poets at the beginning of their writing careers, who have all won recent awards for their poetry, to work on some of their poems on the theme of The City.
 Ruth and the group listen to the poems and offer practical and inspirational pointers to each other. As they go behind the scenes of the poems, testing and pruning, exploring technical points like structure, rhyme and line endings, they reveal the imagination and the skill that makes poetry so rewarding for both writers and readers of poetry.
 The group also share and appreciate a poem by the award winning poet Sean O'Brien called Essay on Snow.

SUN 06:30 Machines Like Me by Ian McEwan (Omnibus) (m0004xvj)
 Episode 1
 Ian McEwan's novel reimagines life and times in the 1980s. Against a backdrop of Britain's loss of the Falkland Islands and mounting social unrest, Charlie invites Adam into his modest London home and introduces him to Miranda, a resident upstairs.
 Adam is a synthetic human and both neighbours decide to 'shape' his personality for everyday use. Others are doing it too, with an Adam or with an Eve.
 Omnibus of the first five of ten parts abridged by Penny Leicester.
 Read by Anton Lesser.
 Producer: Duncan Minshull.
 First broadcast on BBC Radio 4 in May 2019.

 Nell finds herself pregnant and marries Barry, not the father, for the sake of respectability.
 She has twin girls, Jeanie and Meg, and has a blissful first year raising her daughters. But Barry takes an instant dislike to the girls.
 Jeanie and Meg, twin black-eyed girls, are separated at the age of five, one to stay at home, in a working class family in Scarborough, one to be adopted from a children's home by an upper middle class academic family.
 And thus their separate fortunes are set in motion, united only by the vaguest memory of being happy together.
 Their search for each other continues throughout their lives...

 Series 2
 Just the Way You Are Conversations from a Long Marriage is a two-hander comedy, starring Joanna Lumley and Roger Allam, as a long-married couple who met in the Summer of Love and are still passionate about life, music and each other. We listen to – and empathise with - their dangling 'conversations' covering everything from health scares, jealousy and confessions, to TV incompatibility and sourdough bread.

 In episode one, Roger gives Joanna a masterclass in dishwasher stacking while Joanna instructs him on how to wave goodbye to departing guests. As the turbulent year turns, Joanna makes some New Year Resolutions - for Roger - and suggests their marriage needs a re-'boot' . 'Out the door?' is his response.
 Written by Jan Etherington. Produced and directed by Claire Jones.
 A BBC Studios Production.
 Series 1 received excellent reviews including:
 'Sublimely funny, touching series. Joanna Lumley and Roger Allam have had illustrious acting careers but can they ever have done anything better than Jan Etherington's two hander? This is a work of supreme craftsmanship.' Simon O'Hagan. RADIO TIMES
 Conversations.... Is the delicious fruit of Jan Etherington's experience of writing lots of TV and radio comedy (previously with husband Gavin Petrie), blessed by being acted by Joanna Lumley and Roger Allam. They are lifelike and likeable.
 Comedies about likeable people are not common. Treasure this one, produced by Claire Jones.' Gillian Reynolds. SUNDAY TIMES
